Biography

Andreas Dzialocha is an electric bass player, producer, composer and developer. His work consists of both digital and physical environments, spaces, festivals, software or platforms for participants and listeners. The computer itself serves as an artistic, political, social or philosophical medium, dealing with computer culture, machine learning, platform politics or decentralized networks. He is founder of the berlin-based ensemble Serenus Zeitblom Oktett, member of AI UNIT, a network for machine learning based art projects, co-founder of the hacker collective Liebe Chaos Verein, co-publisher of the self-curated magazine platform BLATT 3000, co-founder of the label Hyperdelia and the intermedial score platform Y-E-S. He studied art history, musicology, media philosophy and computer science in Berlin where he also lives and works.

Platforms

2021- »bitspossessed« w. Sarah Friend, Louise Linné, Kaustubh Srikanth, Elena San Miguel We are Bitspossessed, a software developers collective. We support people, organizations, and communities to realize technologically-driven ideas. Bitspossessed provides a healthy, supportive space for our members to build software cooperatively. We strive to contribute to a more just and equitable tech industry, a sustainable digital commons, and an ecologically-regenerative future that prioritizes care and social responsibility.
